Chairman's Report

It is my pleasure to present my first report as Chairman of your Board of Governors.

The year has been one of positioning the organisation for the future. The Governors, including our Patron, met prior to the Annual General Meeting in Auckland for a strategic discussion on the future of the Hall.

The Governors left the meeting with the following action points to be discussed further at another meeting in Dunedin facilitated by Sport New Zealand.

1. A succession plan for Staff and the Board of Governors.
2. Sustainable funding to enable the Hall to focus on its core business.
3. Identify the best location for the Hall to operate from.

Since these meetings Sport New Zealand have contracted Sally Manuireva to continue the investigations into the above matters, including what the Hall may look like in the digital world. Sally has met with Ron and myself on a number of occasions as well with Honoured Members, stakeholders including our major funding partners.

We expect to have a report finalised before our next Annual General Meeting in February 2020 for the Governors to recommend a path forward.

I would like to thank Brent Thawley from Sport New Zealand for his continued support of our organisation.

The year in review can once again be described as maintaining the status quo with a small surplus, insufficient to rebuild the reserves of the organisation after last year's deficit.

Once again a big thank you to Sport New Zealand, Dunedin City Council and the various gaming trusts. Without their support we would not be able to survive. In the past year we were sorry to lose the following Honoured Members: Dame Yvette Williams, Sir Brian Lochore and Bill Baillie.

I would like to pay tribute to the following people who have continued to make significant contributions over the past year: Ron and Kathy Palenski who continue to work tirelessly; John Spicer who retired from his position during the year and we wish John a very happy retirement; Helen Watkins and Emma Sinclair.

To my fellow Governors thank you for your contributions during the year. As discussed at our Auckland and Dunedin meetings, we need to be brave in our decision-making to ensure the Hall's future is secured to continue our key focus of honouring all of our sporting heritage.

Chief Executive's Report

By the time of the annual general meeting and when this report is read, it will be 2020 and therefore thirty years since the New Zealand Sports Hall of Fame was inaugurated in a lavish, televised ceremony in Wellington. In November, we will be able to mark our twenty-first – twenty-one years since opening in the Dunedin Railway Station in 1999.

Much has changed in that time, but much has not. We have more than twice as many inductees as there were at the start when seventy-five were inducted, and we have a museum presence rather than just an office in Wellington. The goodwill that existed in 1990 remains but it is more diffuse, perhaps because the enthusiasts who steered the Hall in its earliest days have mostly gone and perhaps because people have wider interests and lead busier lives.

When the Hall began, computers were rudimentary and not widespread, the phenomenon of the internet was available only to a limited number of people, mostly within universities. Facsimile machines, with their fading thermal paper, and even clunky telex machines were still the staple methods of communication. Facebook, Instagram, blogs? All fantasies of a future few could imagine.

It is a different world. Athletes, in the broad sense of the word, were mostly still amateur according to the various sports bodies, at least in New Zealand. The Olympics were not “open” until 1992 and rugby did not drop its amateur ethos until 1995.

The New Zealand Sports Hall of Fame initially honoured athletes of past eras then as the years rolled by, it embraced a brave new world in which the champions of today knew little of the champions of yesterday. Jonah Lomu, for example, confessed to not knowing who Colin Meads was when he first entered the hurly-burly of international rugby.

The Hall's role was still to honour the champions of the past and those who pioneered sporting pathways, even back to the nineteenth century, but it also assumed the additional roles of educating a modern generation about the champions who had been. And with the educating came the additional task of inspiring the young so that a new generation of champions could replace those who had been. When Jeff Wilson, the champion All Black and cricketer, visited the Hall, he wrote one word in the visitors' book: “Inspiring.”

The Hall has also argued for some years that its role is not merely a sporting function; it's axiomatic that a sporting nation is a healthy nation, and the Hall has said to anyone who would listen that the benefits of sport are an economic benefit to the nation.

We continue to fulfil our roles on a budget that is extremely limited, which is why we wax and wane between surplus and loss each year. After a $24,594 loss the previous year, we were able to record an $86 profit in the current year, a result achieved partly because of the timing of funding and partly because of the extremely tight expenditure regime we maintain.

As the Chairman has mentioned, we have been talking with Sport New Zealand and others for several months now about a viable way forward that will serve the Hall into the future – but will also serve New Zealand's interests into the future. In the jargon phrase of the moment, some people “get it”; others may not.

Our latest inductee is the 1997 world discus champion, Beatrice Faumuina, and she helpfully provided her vest from the championships in Athens plus her winning discus. These are now on display in the increasingly crowded athletics area of the Hall. We continue our association with the Halberg Disability Sport Foundation which allows us to have our annual inductions as part of the foundation's annual sports award dinner, which is televised live on Sky.

It is a matter of deep regret, both personally and on behalf of the Hall, that I record the deaths of three Honoured Members, Dame Yvette Williams, Sir Brian Lochore and Bill Baillie. Each was a keen supporter of the Hall and frequent visitors. Their standing in sport – and in society generally – was enhanced by the passing of the years. We had a couple of changes close to home during the year. John Beattie stood down as chairman in November 2018 and was replaced by Stuart McLauchlan. John had been chairman since soon after the establishment of the Hall in Dunedin and I, and the Hall generally, thank him for his selfless donation of time and energy over such a long period. John Spicer had been the Hall's merchandising officer since the Hall set up in Dunedin and he retired during the year under review, to be replaced by a former part-time employee, Emma Sinclair. For anyone to work at the Hall, dedication has to be total because the rewards are not in financial form. John exemplified that attitude. Sport New Zealand continues to be our major funder and its chief executive, Peter Miskimmin, takes an active personal interest in what we do. He is aware we are always in the market for more money at the same time as we express our gratitude for his support in the past. I personally thank Brent Thawley of Sport New Zealand for his understanding and interest.

The Dunedin City Council, through a rent rebate, is our second-biggest funder and has been a constant supporter since we first considered moving to Dunedin in 1997. In fact, it was the Dunedin City Council that invited us to Dunedin.

We continue to rely on discretionary funding through gaming machine trusts and again express our gratitude to Pub Charity, Bendigo Valley and The Southern Trust. As always, I thank the Board of Governors and the executive committee and chairman, Stuart McLauchlan. In an increasingly highly professionalised sporting world, their roles are voluntary and appreciated all the more for that.

I thank too those who keep the Hall going from day to day – Kathy Palenski, Helen Watkins and Emma Sinclair. They all work to ensure New Zealand’s sporting past continues into the present and the future.

Statement of Accounting Policies

For the year ended 30 June 2019

Basis of Preparation:

New Zealand Sports Hall of Fame Incorporated has elected to apply PBE SFR-A (NFP) Public Benefit Entity Simple Format Reporting – Accrual (Not-For-Profit) on the basis that it does not have public accountability and has total annual expenses of equal to or less than $2,000,000. All transactions in the Performance Report are reported using the accrual basis of accounting. The Performance Report is prepared under the assumption that the entity will continue to operate in the foreseeable future.

Specific Accounting Policies:

The following specific accounting policies which materially affect the measurement of financial performance have been applied:

Accounts receivable:

Accounts receivable are valued at expected realisable value. Bad debts are written off in the year in which they are identified.

Property, plant, equipment and depreciation:

Property, plant and equipment are recorded at cost less depreciation. Depreciation is provided at 20% using the straight line method.

Bank accounts and cash:

Bank accounts and cash in the statement of cash flow comprises cash balances and bank balances (including short term deposits with original maturities of 90 days or less)

Creditors and accrued expenses

Creditors and accrued expenses represent liabilities for goods and services provided to the Hall and prior to the end of the financial year which are unpaid. These are recorded at the amount required to settle those liabilities. The amounts are unsecured and are usually paid within 30 days of recognition.

Inventory:

Inventory has been valued on a first in first out basis at the lower of cost or net realisable value after due allowance for damaged and obsolete stock.

Goods and services tax:

These statements are prepared on a GST exclusive basis except that accounts receivable and accounts payable are recorded inclusive of GST.

Changes in accounting policies:

There have been no changes in accounting policies. All policies have been applied on a basis consistent with those used in previous years.

Revenue:

Revenue from membership, admissions and HoF Merchandise are recognised in the Statement of Financial Performance at the point they are receipted into the Hall's bank account.

Other income is recognised in the Statement of Financial Performance as their services are provided.

Grants are recognised as revenue when they become receivable unless there is an obligation in substance to return the funds if conditions of the grant are not met. If there is such an obligation, the grants are initially recorded as grants received in advance and recognised as revenue when conditions of the grant are satisfied.

Income Tax:

No tax has been provided in the accounts as the society is exempt from income tax.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the readers of New Zealand Sports Hall of Fame Incorporated ("the Society")

Opinion

We have audited the performance report of New Zealand Sports Hall of Fame Incorporated ("the Society"), which comprises the Society information, the statement of service performance, the statement of financial performance and statement of cash flows for the year ended 30 June 2019, the statement of financial position as at 30 June 2019, and statement of accounting policies and other explanatory information.

In our opinion:

- a) The reported outcomes and outputs, and quantification of the outputs to the extent practicable, in the statement of service performance are suitable;
- b) The performance report presents fairly, in all material respects,
 - the Society information for the year ended 30 June 2019;
 - the statement of service performance for the year then ended; and
 - the financial position of NZ Sports Hall of Fame as at 30 June 2019, and its financial performance and cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Public Benefit Society Simple Format reporting – Accrual (Not-For-Profit).

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit of the statement of financial performance, the statement of cash flows, the statement of financial position and notes to the performance report in accordance with International Standards on Auditing (New Zealand) (ISAs (NZ)), and the audit of the Society information and the statement of service performance in accordance with the International Standard on Assurance Engagements (New Zealand) ISAE (NZ) 3000 (Revised). Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Performance Report section of our report. We are independent of the Society in accordance with Professional and Ethical Standard 1 (Revised) Code of Ethics for Assurance Practitioners issued by the New Zealand Auditing and Assurance Standards Board, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Other than in our capacity as auditor we have no relationship with, or interests in, the Society.

Emphasis of Matter

We draw attention to Note 8 of the performance report, which states the Society is dependent upon receiving donations and funding for its income and existence. Our opinion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Management Committee's Responsibility for the Performance Report

The Management Committee is responsible on behalf of the Society for:

- (a) identifying outcomes and outputs, and quantifying the outputs to the extent practicable, that are relevant, reliable, comparable and understandable, to report in the statement of service performance;
- (b) the preparation and fair presentation of the performance report which comprises:
 - the Society information;
 - the statement of service performance; and
 - the statement of financial performance, statement of financial position, statement of cash flows, statement of accounting policies and notes to the performance report

In preparing the performance report, the Management Committee are responsible on behalf of the Society for assessing the Society's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the Management Committee either intend to liquidate the Society or to cease operations, or have no realistic alternative but to do so.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Performance Report

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the performance report is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with ISAs (NZ) and ISAE (NZ) 3000 (Revised) will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the decisions of users taken on the basis of this performance report.

As part of an audit in accordance with ISAs (NZ), we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

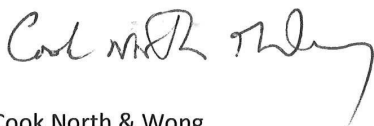

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the performance report, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Society's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the use of the going concern basis of accounting by the Management Committee and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Society's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the performance report or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Society to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the performance report, including the disclosures, and whether the performance report represents the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Perform procedures to obtain evidence about and evaluate whether the reported outcomes and outputs, and quantification of the outputs to the extent practicable, are relevant, reliable, comparable and understandable.

We communicate with the Management Committee regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

A further description of the auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements is located at the XRB's website at https://xrb.govt.nz/Site/Auditing_Assurance_Standards/Current_Standards/Description_Auditors_responsibilities.aspx.

Restriction of Distribution or Use

This report is made solely to the Society, as a body. Our audit work has been undertaken so that we might state to the Society those matters which we are required to state to them in an auditor's report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the Society, as a body, for our audit work, for this report or for the opinions we have formed.
